EXCLUSIVE!

Billie and Sam: sexy sunseekers!

Faiers sisters make Majorca go “Mmm!”

➔ MAN ALIVE! Majorca got a treat last week, as the lucky resort played host to the fabulous TOWIE sisters Billie (left) and Sam, as they sauced up the beach in sunnies and bikinis that scientists would describe as “at maximum tensility”.

The girls are getting into shape for series ten, which starts filming later in the year. By “getting into shape” we mean getting in and out of relationships, arranging to meet chums in bars then feigning surprise at their attendance and the two-yard wine glass toss, obviously.

Joey Essex's tiny child shorts had come down

WORDS: RORY BUCKERIDGE PHOTOS: BARE MEDIA

BRAINS AND BEAUTY!

The sisters have recently opened a second Minnie's Boutique store, in Manchester.

The hours of practising in the mirror paid off

"Just five more sunglasses reps and I'll hit the showers!"

BIKINI WARS!

Billie's bum could stop a pensioner at 50 paces

A quick moon and she was off!

The Heimlich manoeuvre was surprisingly fun

"Hmm, I wonder what's for tea tonight"

"Did I or didn't I leave the tap running?"

"Ouch! Get me to shore - my hamstring's gone again!"

The two-for-one bikini offer had been worthwhile

WHAT A PAIR!

Extreme wheelchairing!

Chap BASE jumps on two wheels!

SOME ABSOLUTE

and some irony. The awesomeness, obviously, is Lonnie Bissonnette here, a paraplegic who hasn't stopped being unable to walk or use his left arm get in the way of his BASE-jumping hobby, as he launches himself off the New River Gorge, West Virginia.

The irony? Bissonnette received his injuries in a past BASE-jumping accident. "Luckily", Lonnie has enough feeling in his right arm to be able to pull his parachute's rip-cord and steer the chute. Every cloud, eh?

WHEEEEEELIE!

Hawking's dreams were suitably awesome

Lonnie's biography!

- Lonnie was paralysed in 2004 at the 150m Perrine Bridge Idaho, while attempting a quadruple gainer – an outward facing, inward rotating flip.
- His parachute tangled around his feet and he hit the river at 70mph.
- After getting back to parachuting within 12 months, Lonnie set himself the goal of being the world's first paraplegic BASE jumper.
- He achieved this in May 2007, having first jumped off an antenna at Niagara in 2005 (Antenna), Niagara's Skyton tower (Building), West Virginia's New River Gorge Bridge (Span) in 2006, and finally Devil's Punchbowl in Hamilton (Earth).

Ryanair's move into hot air balloon rides was a bit shoddy

EXCLUSIVE!

A quick word with Keith Lemon!

Our moustachioed chum chats Brad Pitt, samurai swords and his brand new show!

➔ Hi Keith! Your new series Through The Keyhole has just started. What's it all about?

Well, I go snooping around celebrities' houses while our celebrity panel in the studio have to guess whose house I'm in. It's an old format, which used to be presented by David Frost and Loyd Grossman, but now with a whimsical, Lemony zest, in the form of me.

Can you tell us whose houses you snoop around?

I can't tell you any of the celebrities because that will spoil your fun. But we have some wicked panellists, such as Jonathan Ross, Eamonn Holmes, Emma Bunton and Dave Berry.

Were you tempted to leave a poo in a celebrity's bed?

Yes. I leave a poo in everybody's toilet. The first thing I do when the camera crew are setting up is to look in their wardrobe to see what designer labels they have. You'll be surprised how many of them shop on the high street. Then I leave a little brown deposit in their toilet as a gift to thank them for letting me in their house.

Have you found anything weird, like sex toys?

In the pilot, I found a Dracula mask, a dildo and some handcuffs in Kerry Katona's house. I don't know if she'd put them there as a joke, or what. The weirdest house I've seen was made up of two posh sheds under a canvas in a forest in Malibu, with a samurai sword and sequin shoes by their bed. That's weird, I suppose.

What would we find if we went rummaging around your house, Keith? Moustache comb? Hair dye? Leopard-skin underpants?

I don't buy hair dye. I go t'hairstylists and go, "Can you put some more highlights in it please?" It's quite boring but my hairstylist's quite fit, and I have a good chat with her. I don't have to comb my 'tache because my make-up lady combs it for me, and she's quite fit, too. Always surround yourself with fit people.

Sound advice, Keith! Did you ask Kelly Brook, Fearne Cotton and Holly Willoughby if you could root around their knicker drawers when they were out?

I didn't ask Fearne because she's just had a baby. Holly's been on holiday all summer and Kelly has broken up from Danny Cappuccino, so I don't know what's going on there. I've texted her and gone, "Are you all right? You're welcome to come over our house for a pint or two." But they're my mates and I've seen their houses. I want to go to people's houses I don't know. I feel like a burglar a lot of the time. Sometimes they'd gone out before we'd arrived, so we had to climb through the window.

If you had a magic key that opened all the doors in the world, where would you go?

I'd go to Selfridges and get an 85-inch LCD TV, but I guess that would be theft. Then if I went into Nicole Scherzinger's house, that would be trespassing. So I suppose I'd just hold it and say, "My key gets me in anywhere, I'm the best."

Where's the best place in the UK to buy a house right now?

I love London in the summer, but the prices are a rip-off. A castle in Leeds is the same price as a two-bedroom flat! Then again, do you want to live in a massive house somewhere sh*t? Maybe not.

Celebrity Juice is back. What's new in this series?

We don't plan much, we just have a drink and go on-stage. I don't know how I'll be with Fearne as a mum. At Christmas we'll be doing a special with three teams and Kelly Brook, Holly and Fearne as team captains. There are new games like "Keith vs Beast" which is me taking on animals, like hamsters, at ten-pin bowling.

Have any celebrities refused to come on Celebrity Juice?

Millions! Prince, Madonna, Brad Pitt all said no, because they haven't seen it. I love having American guests on like Henry Winkler and

"I always leave a poo in celebs' houses!"
Keith Lemon

Jason Biggs. They watch a few clips on YouTube and say they're happy to do it.

Is there any news on Keith Lemon: The Film 2?

No idea. We've not had a meeting about it 'cos my time's been consumed with Through The Keyhole, Celebrity Juice and a new project out next summer.

Finally, is there such a thing as too much Keith Lemon?

If you hate me, yeah. If you like me, no. Ha-ha!

Miley Cyrus internet funnies!

Gags inspired by that awards show performance!

➔ AT MTV'S swish VMA awards in New York last week, pop pixie Miley Cyrus blindsided the audience with a twerking rendition of Robin Thicke's Blurred Lines that left most of the audience confused and aghast. This tickled the internet's funny bones, thusly:

The Expendables 3 behind the scenes!

The man-movie franchise becomes a trilogy!

THE FILM

equivalent of chugging a foamy pint of bull's ball-juice, The Expendables is a franchise that sweats testosterone.

And as these behind-the-scenes pics from Expendables 3 show, it just keeps coming. So, Sylvester Stallone, Dolph Lundgren, The Stath, Randy Couture and Wesley Snipes last week were pretending this set in Bulgaria was a Somali warlord's hideout.

They'll be joined in the August 2014 movie by new baddie Mel Gibson. Not Bruce Willis, though. After money talks broke down, Sly branded him "greedy and lazy" and benched him for Harrison Ford as quick as he'd change an AK-47 mag!

Kung fu crane!

Angry bird breaks out the martial arts

DON'T WORRY, these two Eurasian cranes, reared from eggs by the Great Crane Project in Slimbridge, Gloucestershire, are only sparring. Apparently they sharpen-up their combat skills to battle potential predators, before being released onto the Somerset Moors. Just as well we live elsewhere, then, because this image of a crane coming at us out of the skies with a flying kick is going to give us nightmares for weeks! If they can pick locks and wear balaclavas we're moving to Mexico!

WORDS: RORY BUCKERIDGE PHOTOS: AMY KING/SWNS.COM

KILLER KICK!

"Check out my pedicure!"

Crane facts!

- The first cranes (the other ones) were invented by the ancient Greeks in 6th Century BC, and powered by men or animals.
- The Taisun crane in Yantai Raffles Shipyard, Shandong Province, China, holds the record for the heaviest lift of all time: 20,133 metric tonnes. That's more than 10,000 VW Beetles.
- At 138m, the Kockums crane, built in Sweden, is the world's tallest. It was sold to Hyundai Heavy Industries for $1 then shipped to South Korea.
- The highest-ever crane operator was Babu Sassi, who operated the crane at the top of the Burj Dubai, at over 830m. He reportedly lived in his crane for a year, as it was too annoying to come down.

Bullet shots!

Clever chap snaps bullet leaving gun!

BULLETS ARE famous for moving very fast indeed. Also killing people, animals and crockery, but watching the actual physics of a bullet discharge is fascinating. So here, for your brains and eyes, is a .310 bullet gracefully leaving an AR-15 rifle, shot by ballistics photography expert Herra Kuulapaa. It's weirdly beautiful – till it takes someone's eye out!

WORDS: RORY BUCKERIDGE PHOTOS: HERRA KUULAPAA, KUULAPAA.COM

What you're seeing!

● The gun's firing pin strikes the primer or percussion cap – an explosive charge whose job is to ignite the main part of the bullet – the propellant.

● Propellant chemicals are designed to burn fairly slowly. The idea is to build up enough gas pressure to propel the bullet down the barrel. Not blow the gun up.

● The bullet leaves the gun at between 1,200 and 2,800mph. The "bang" is the release of pressure of the explosion down the barrel's end.

● Fire follows the bullet out of the barrel as the gases combine with the oxygen in the air, and finish combusting.

● The twist inside the barrel – rifling – sets the bullet spinning, gyroscopically stabilising it, improving its aerodynamic stability and accuracy.

COLLECTOR'S EDITION!

Car always got a bit whiney when told to "stay"

Special edition Ferrari Italia!

The 458 gets a little-needed jolly up. To 600bhp, 210mph and with go faster stripes!

- It's no surprise that there's more to this new edition Ferrari than a trio of stripes splashed across the bonnet, roof and bum. This is a 600bhp 458 with all the leccy tech and active aerodynamics wound up to OMG settings. And they've put their revered "Speciale" badge on it.
- It's also "Speciale" because it's the most powerful naturally aspirated V8 ever built by Ferrari. It also has the highest ever bhp per litre of any naturally aspirated road-going engine.
- By using special Michelin tyres and revised electronic stability controls, the Speciale has achieved the

WORDS: JONNY SMITH

For big school, Car's mum had sewn in his name tag

He struggled out another impressive cable highest lateral acceleration G-force ever recorded by any Ferrari – 1.33g. Enough to push vital organs out of your bottom. Probably.

- It isn't immediately apparent what other external tweaks the Speciale has been gifted. The front grille has been altered, along with a more sculpted bonnet.

- In order to mimic race cars, the Speciale's backside sports a larger diffuser panel which incorporates a pair of tailpipes. Both front and rears feature moveable flaps, which adapt to balance downforce and reduce drag as much as possible. All extremely technical, of course.

- So it's a faster, harder cornering version of an already fast/corner glued Ferrari. It sees off 62mph in three seconds, just 0.5 secs off the F1 Berlinetta. It takes 9.1 secs to blow beyond 124mph (to a top end of around 210mph) and laps the Fiorano test circuit 1.5 secs faster than the original 458.

- With some carbon-fibre chairs, twin turbos, extra carbon trim and a strange prong on which the seven-speed double-clutch paddle-shift controls rest on, the Speciale's all about taking the already exemplary 458 to further extremes. As is the price, at around £210k.

Surprisingly, Ferrari's penis was much like a turtle's

"I was on the back of a friend's bike," says Dean, "and we'd pulled out to overtake a bus. I felt myself sliding back and next thing I knew, I was off the bike sliding down the road.

"My forearm was so twisted and swollen that I couldn't see I'd dislocated two bones in my wrist. An ambulance took me

That's a snip

A TEXAN bursts into a bar and buys a round of drinks for the house, saying that his wife has just produced "a typical Texas baby" weighing 20lbs. Two weeks later, he returns to the bar and the bartender asks, "Aren't you the father of the big Texas baby?"

"Yessir, sure am," says the Texan.

The barman asks, "How much does he weigh now?"

The proud father replies, "Fifteen pounds."

Nicole & Danielle!

Two amazing girls, hanging out together for a sexy summer shoot. Lovely stuff.

NICOLE!

DANIELLE!

NICOLE & DANIELLE

“Danielle and I are a pretty hot team!”

Nicole

Hello Danielle and Nicole! How are you enjoying today's sexy summer shenanigans?

Danielle: Hello! Yes, it's been a lot of fun. The sun's shining! I love it.

Nicole: Loving it. It's so nice to be able to get naked outside without it being too cold!

What's been the best thing about you two shooting together for the first time?

Danielle: Well, I absolutely love working with Nicole, full stop. She's beautiful, isn't she? I have major hair envy!

Nicole: Why, thank you. Ha-ha! I think Danielle and I are a pretty hot team. Blonde and brunette together – who wouldn't want that?

How have you both been enjoying the summer?

Danielle: There's been lots of sunbathing so far, and let's not forget the chilling out in beer gardens. In the UK, it's all about just trying to make the most of the weather while it lasts.

Nicole: I've been partying hard in a bikini for most of it. I have some amazing photos of some of the girls being a bit too crazy.

Sounds like fun! Tell us what's going to be ace about the remainder of the summer...

Danielle: I'm going to Los Angeles soon, which I can't wait for. I'm going for two months, partly for a holiday since I've finished university now, but also to do some acting classes.

Acting classes? That sounds awesome, Danielle! Are you planning to take over the big screen then?

Danielle: Ha-ha! Well, it'll just be cool to do some acting classes and to meet some agents.

Sweet! Nicole, have you got any adventures planned?

Nicole: Yeah, it's been pretty cool so far, actually. I've been away a lot already. Fingers crossed, I'll hit a few more party countries soon.

When you nip off on your jollies, what one-thing can't you live without?

Danielle: My iPad. I use it for everything, and if I lost or broke it, I would be completely lost! I love a bit of Fruit Ninja when I'm by the pool, although I've played the games so often now that they do my head in a bit. Plus you can't beat a bit of Instagram, can you?

Nicole: I'm a bit like that with my iPhone. I have to take my charger everywhere because I use it so much.

We had the magician Dynamo in Nuts earlier in the summer. What would impress you more in a bloke – him doing magic, or him being funny?

Danielle: Well, being funny is good, obviously. But if someone can do tricks like Dynamo – that's probably got the edge for me.

Nicole: I like a funny guy, really. The magic tricks would just be a bonus.

Tell us then, when you girls all jet off together, who's the feistiest in the group?

Nicole: Everyone is! I have to say, the northerners among us are quite the party animals. Everyone's just as bad as each other though.

Danielle: Ha-ha! Is that me? Well, I've definitely met some feisty northerners and I can be feisty when I want to be. So maybe I can see Nicole's point!

Generally speaking, what would a typical night out with you two be like?

Nicole: It depends what night it is. We might go mad on a Monday, or we might just save ourselves for later in the week. But if you go away for a whole week, you're guaranteed that everyone comes back with at least one pretty funny story. ►

partying hard in a bikini all summer!”

Nicole

Danielle: A typical night out? Hmm, lots of drinking, lots of shots and generally lots and lots of craziness. I like to get pretty merry on a night out, it's fair to say.

When you're out and about, do you ever get spotted by fans?

Nicole: Not really. I think they'd think we're all a bit weird and a bit crazy! But I hope they'd want to come over and say hello.

Danielle: I can't say I've ever met a fan, but if we did bump into each other, I would absolutely love for them to come and say hello.

Can you give us chaps some decent clothing tips, please?

Danielle: My advice would be just to keep it simple. A cool T-shirt, some denim shorts, and maybe a pair of pumps. I'd be happy if a guy wore something like that to meet me.

Nicole: In summer, men should wear as little as possible! And they should always carry some swim stuff with them, just in case...

Should the men of Britain be aspiring to look like the blokes on Geordie Shore, or can we do better than that?

Danielle: That's definitely not a good look, in my opinion! I don't think men should ever be allowed to use faketan or go on sunbeds. It should be made illegal!

Nicole: Ha-ha! Danielle's right. As nice as I'm sure the Geordie Shore lads are, I couldn't think of anything worse than that look. Sorry, lads!

Fair enough! Well, finally, on a cheerier note, what's the sexiest thing you've had the pleasure of seeing recently?

Danielle: I have a poster of Cara Delevingne – she's a model. She looks amazing. I love her!

Nicole: Me personally? I've just seen Danielle naked. I think that answers your question!

“I like a bit of craziness on a night out!”

The UK rappers on John Terry, Jeremy Kyle hybrids and flavoured condoms!

Howdy Harley! Hello Jordan! What's been the best thing about the Rizzle summer?

Harley: Glastonbury. It was my first one and we got to stay for the whole weekend so just got really f**ked.
Jordan: There was a moment when I was on a boat with my mates in Ibiza and the sun was setting. It was a contender for the happiest moment I've ever experienced in my life.

Your new record is called Roaring 20s. Does this mean you're officially getting on a bit or will you still be hitting it hard?

Jordan: Both. It's about the parallel between being in your 20s and how people behaved in the '20s. There was definite headway made towards the world being a more free and open place then, and some of the artistic stuff that came from that period was f**king dope.

So you won't be cancelling parties to watch The Great British Bake Off just yet?

Jordan: Ha-ha! Well, I go through phases. The last phase was partying and now I'm in a non-partying phase.
Harley: He doesn't watch The Great British Bake Off though.

Jordan: I don't. I actually watch Luther.

Harley: I watch the cricket.

Jordan: I watch Friends continually. Dude, I was sat at home yesterday and I watched a whole episode that I'd seen an hour and a half earlier. I think I have a real problem. Same f**king episode. I was asking myself, "Why can't I just change the channel?"

It's a classic show! When was the last time you were recognised in the street?

Harley: I had a very stressful experience. I was waiting for a taxi at Tesco and my phone had no reception so the driver couldn't call me. I couldn't find the car and there were loads of young girls everywhere. Inside Tesco they were in every aisle – it was like a horror film and I couldn't escape!

On the album you have a pop at John Terry and Jeremy Kyle...

Harley: I thought you said "John Teremy" then... that would be amazing if you had!

Jordan: Let's start that trending! John Teremy, a unique mixture of two different c**ts. Ha-ha! I bet Jeremy Kyle is like a sad puppy. "Why? Why don't you like me, lads?"

What's the secret to your eternal chirpiness?

Harley: We're young and in a good position in life.

Jordan: I was positive before that, actually. Ultimately, it's about being satisfied with living. Yeah! What? You don't like the philosophical stuff?

What p**ses you off? Something must...

Jordan: When I go through passport control and I don't know when the glass doors are going to shut again.

When people eat with their mouths open and I can hear them chewing.

Harley: Flies. Like when you're on holiday, the flies are so annoying. And people who don't like drinking tea. Anyone who doesn't drink tea, I'd like to register my disapproval of now.

More importantly, do you still have Nando's black cards?

Jordan: Nope, they've been taken off us. We gave them to our mates for a month and they were really rude to the staff. Sorry, Nando's.

Harley: Yeah, sorry. Let's have a chat sometime and sort this out.

What's on your tour rider?

Harley: Chickens. Not live chickens, cooked chickens.

Jordan: Pants and socks. And we have French bread, honey, lemon, hummus, pitta, carrots and Pop Chips. Our drummer's on a diet so we have flavoured condoms on the rider for him to suck. Ha-ha!

For real?

Jordan: No. Have you ever tasted flavoured condoms? My personal favourite's blueberry.

Let's move on! Is it true that Robbie Williams wants to battle-rap against you?

Jordan: More than that, he told me the first four bars that he was going to use against me. I wish I could remember them because they were f**king boss.

Harley: Though if we did remember them, we couldn't really tell you.

Jordan: Robbie against me in a battle would be amazing. I'll have to speak to him but he only has email. I got him into this amazing guy from Brighton called Wizard who just raps about his guns. Robbie's an adrenaline junkie and sees stuff like Don't Flop battles as being an extreme sport. I did a battle – it's like having an out-of-body experience.

You're well known as gamers, or at least have been known to flog them. Do you ever play anyone famous online?

Harley: I'm not a gamer.

Jordan: I play FIFA. And I can't wait to get GTA 5 – that's going to ruin my life. And I have sort of played someone famous, actually. I played Jude Law's son the other day, which, at the very least, is the offspring of someone famous.

Really? You're going to have to tell us all about that...

You'll like this story... check the name drops. I went to dinner with Nick Grimshaw and ended up at Sadie Frost's house, and Jude Law's son was there. He asked me if I played FIFA, I said, "Yeah, I'll kick your arse!" "No you won't," he said. "I'll kick your arse!" And I beat him. But only 2-0. The worst part of it all is the kid can only be about ten and I was crowing to him but he was so cool about it, telling me about all the great stuff that I'd done. If I was that age I'd have cried. Jude Law's son is already a better man than me. You're not supposed to have that maturity at that age. Little f**ker. X

The UK's sexiest girl in a super-sexy shoot!

HELEN FLANAGAN

Hello Helen!
You're pretty much the nation's pin-up
girl these days.
How does that

make you feel?

Oh, it's so nice, it's really flattering. It's lovely. Lots of people have a different opinion on what makes a person sexy, but in my opinion it's confidence and inner beauty that make the difference.

Do you think doing a legendary
I'm A Celebrity... shower scene has better prepared you for summers on the beach?

Ha-ha! Well, when I went into the jungle, I thought I'd just be wearing a bikini and making friends. I didn't think it'd be so intense!

So who do you think looks best in a bikini?

Myleene Klass in her bikini in the jungle is a pretty iconic thing, isn't it? So probably her! I remember going bikini shopping before I flew out to the jungle last year. The rule was that you could only take three sets in.

You've been both blonde and brunette – which is the sexiest hair colour in your opinion?

I like experimenting with both. When I went blonde, to be honest with you, it wasn't a matter of how I looked, it was how it made me feel. It was exciting, and it made me feel better. I think it's a bit boring if you stay with the norm all the time.

Do blondes really have more fun, then?

Erm, probably! Yes. Blondes do, I think.

Which other fit lady celebs do you admire?

I think Tulisa's really beautiful, but you can also tell she's also a really, really strong woman, so I think that's very attractive, and very sexy. She's amazing! She's got tattoos, hasn't she? I think that's really, really sexy. ►

HELEN FLANAGAN

“I could only take three bikinis into the jungle!”

Do you ever miss being in Coronation Street?

Ha-ha! Well, one thing I don't miss is that I don't have to get up at five in the morning any more. It took me a while to adjust to that.

You're always in the papers for one thing or another. Do you ever feel things are a bit manic?

To be honest with you, I've just been living for the moment, doing my own thing. I'm really, really happy.

How do you feel about the papers always featuring your mad antics?

Well, I'm a bit crazy so I seem to draw controversy to myself like a magnet. I'm so naive – I always get into trouble! I'm too honest. Maybe this is what puts me in difficult situations.

Do you feel sexy when you see pics of yourself in magazines?

I feel sexy, yes – much sexier than when I was younger. I have a bigger ego than before, but I think most of the girls have that too.

What makes a girl sexy?

I think all women are sexy in their own way. It's all about confidence. A confident woman is a sexy one, definitely.

And what sort of thing do you look for in a bloke?

I find a guy with good manners really sexy. If you're a strong bloke but have a really good heart, that's very attractive. Girls are more attracted to personality.

What does the future hold for you?

Well, I'm in a couple of British films this summer – that's been keeping me busy! But I really want to get back into period dramas. I love them!

Thanks for the chinwag, Helen! Finally then, what's in the pipeline for the rest of 2013?

I want to live for the moment really. We'll see what happens. I might even consider going back to university! ▶

Nuts chats to the bloke who battled a three-tonne beast and lived to tell the tale...

PAUL TEMPLER knows a thing or two about close encounters of the beastly kind. As a former wildlife guide on Zimbabwe's Zambezi river, he cosied up to crocs and shared slithering space with serpents on a daily basis. But, as he explains to Nuts, it was his run-in with a hungry hippo one summer afternoon that changed his life for ever.

Hello Paul. Your new book details this insane hippo encounter. How typical were such attacks when you worked in Zimbabwe?

You know, they weren't an everyday thing, but they happen. They kill around 250-300 people each year. I'd been working on the river for almost five years and – while all hippo attacks were scary – the worst that happened was we'd get knocked out of our canoes.

What happened with this particular hippo?

We'd encountered him about six months before, and he was very aggressive. Hippo structures are like a nuclear family – a male, a female, and then children. However, lone males are more dangerous – they roam around feeling very angry. This was the definitive angry male hippo.

Had he attacked you before then?

Yes. On his first attack he tipped the canoe over, knocking people out of the boat. He even started biting the water into a huge froth to stop us reaching them. There were six more attacks in that period, each one getting more vicious. Often, when hippos knock the boat over, they leave the people in the water. This one seemed determined to mess with people, particularly.

Why was he so grouchy with you?

No idea. He wasn't even being territorial. He would appear at different points along the river, deliberately ambushing boats. It wasn't far from the shark in Jaws, a rogue shark who decides to go after humans.

After the attack, Paul learned to kayak with one arm

What was it like being knocked over by a hippo?

The first time, he just came up behind and shunted us up into the air. I heard a bang and then saw my colleague, who had been sat behind me, flying into the air. Another time he even came up from beneath the boat.

And what about the more serious attack?

It was like one of those old submarine movies where a torpedo is fired at a ship, and you see the torpedo forming a wave along the water. We saw this wave approaching and slapped the water with a paddle. That scared it off at first, but one of my guides, Evans, had already been knocked into the water. I leaned over to grab hold of him and, as our hands were almost touching, the hippo came up between us, so fast I didn't even see it. It plucked me clean out of the canoe. I was suddenly like, "Where am I?" One moment I could see Evans in the water, the next I could see nothing but blackness.

So, you were in the hippo's mouth?

Everything went into slow motion. I knew I was headfirst inside something – I couldn't tell whether it was a croc or a hippo at first – I could just feel the water against my legs. It was just darkness and a terrible rotten eggs smell. I only confirmed it was a hippo when, with one hand, I could feel the bristles on the side of his mouth.

How did you get out?

I'd like to say I did something to escape but the hippo just spat me out. I swam to the surface and reached Evans but – struck with terror – he wouldn't swim for safety. I grabbed him and pulled him along, but the hippo then struck from behind. I went to reach the revolver in my pocket, but I couldn't even get near it. The hippo was shaking me from side to side – all I could do was manage not to drown. Then the hippo spat me out again.

What happened next?

As I headed for the shore, suddenly from one side I could see the hippo steaming in, his mouth wide open. He landed a direct hit – my legs were out of one side of his jaws, my head and shoulders outside the other. He went absolutely berserk, shaking me like a dog with a rag doll. My body went into shock, but luckily I was able to hold onto his tusks so they didn't tear my flesh too much. It probably saved my life.

Hippo teeth!

● This (left) is the size of the exposed part of a hippo's tooth – 30cm from the gums up.

● George Washington had false teeth made from hippos' teeth.

● Like elephants' tusks, hippo teeth are made of ivory, but they don't yellow, so are regarded as even more valuable.

Did you think you were going to die?

Yes. The clearest memory I have is when the hippo took me down to the bottom of the water – I could see the sunlight on the surface. There was no panic. I just thought to myself, "I wonder how long this hippo can hold its breath for?" I could see my blood mixing in with the water, and wondered if I'd bleed to death or drown.

How did you escape?

The hippo surged to the surface and chucked me away. My colleague, Mac, paddled close to me to rescue me from the water. I was stuck on the river's edge – my radio, first aid kit and gun were all gone. The hippo was still furious, thrashing around. My other colleague, Ben, had to paddle me to safety.

How serious were your injuries?

Mac told me he could see my lung through a hole in my back – he had to use a torn shirt to keep my arm attached to my body. Because I had a lot of injuries, I wasn't allowed any painkillers until I reached the surgeon eight hours later. I was told I'd lose both arms and a leg, but I only lost part of my left arm.

What happened to Evans?

Sadly, he died. They found him three days later, washed up on the bank. I think he drowned – perhaps as a result of a heart attack, or of getting knocked unconscious in the thrashing around.

Thanks for recalling the tale, Paul. Finally, then, how long was your road to recovery?

I finally left hospital after about a month. I then learned how to kayak using one arm. Since then I've led an exhibition team down the Zambezi river – the fullest descent down it to date, past landmines, crocodiles and waterfalls!

● Paul Templer's book What's Left of Me: How I Lost A Fight With A Rogue Hippo And Won My Life is out now. He also runs The Templer Foundation, who work with terminally ill children and veterans suffering from PTSD - templerfoundation.org.

It was a dream ticket. Robert Downey Jr's Tony Stark, written and directed by Shane Black – the chap who penned The Last Boy Scout and The Long Kiss Goodnight. And no one was disappointed, as this is a top blockbuster with wisecracks, terrific action and one of the best twists in years. Only cost a billion dollars!

Hustling America

CHANNEL 5 • 7pm

Conman Alexis Conran travels across America searching for the most amazing scams and bets in the history of rip-offs. These include looking at the career of legendary hustler Titanic Thompson, and meeting the man who won $100,000 in a wager in which he had breast implants. He still lost out, we reckon.

Ukraine vs England

ITV/HD • 7.15pm

It's England's crunch World Cup qualifier at the Olympic Stadium in Kiev. England are faves to win the group as they have a game in hand, but last year they only salvaged a 1-1 draw. Roy Hodgson's got off lightly so far – if they lose he better brolly-up.

CHANNEL 4/HD • 9pm

It's all going off in the Summerhouse estate. Property developers are moving in and preparing to buy up the neighbourhood. However, they're not the only ones who are interested, and the Albanian mob are less scrupulous. How can Dushane (Ashley Walters) be expected to make an honest living selling drugs? Brilliant.

BBC THREE • 10pm

Miss school? Us neither, but Jack Whitehall as Alfie, the world's most useless teacher, is enough to make us think we had it easy. As ever, posh-boy Alfie's main aim is to impress earnest biology teacher, Miss Gulliver, and stay out of the clutches of deeply traditional deputy head, Miss Pickwell. He fails on both counts!

England vs Australia

SKY SPORTS 1/HD • 1.30pm

Whitechapel

ITV/HD • 9pm

The OCD cop/bad cop police drama continues, and it's one of ITV's most underrated 'tec shows. This time, the London bobbies are faced with the apparent killing of witches in the area. Cue rambling, historic context supplied by the now rather crowbarred-in Steve Pemberton, and spooky "goings on" back at the nick.

10 RUDE QUESTIONS!

And a real girl to answer them!

Danielle

24 Glasgow

1 Where's the strangest place you've had sex?

"On a private beach! I love a warm climate, and being able to cool off in the ocean feels so good, especially when you're naked. It was extremely naughty – but I loved it!"

2 What's your trademark move in the bedroom?

"I'm a bit of a tease so I always start by wearing some sexy lingerie, which comes off when I do my little striptease. My moves are very seductive."

3 What turns you on?

"It has to be a really good kiss! I like a really steamy, hot snog which makes me go weak at the knees."

4 What's your favourite position?

"Me on top. I love to be in control and, of course, the eye contact is so much more intense. I like to grab my hair, bite my lip and take charge!"

5 What one thing would you really like to try but haven't yet?

"I'd love to join the 'mile-high club'. Firstly, I'd dress up in an ultra-sexy air hostess' outfit. That would really get my blood pumping and I'd feel so naughty and impulsive. Then, at the right time, I'd find my man and take him to the cubicle to do the deed!"

6 Ever got it on with another girl?

"I've had a few kisses with my sexy friends which I've really enjoyed. It feels really different from kissing a boy but I don't mind a cheeky kiss on a night out or maybe a grasp of a bum. But I have to say, I won't be crossing over – I'm all about the men!"

7 What's your favourite sexy outfit?

"My French lingerie and Louboutin high-heels. When I've got my seductive lingerie on it's enough to make any man's mouth water!"

8 What's the rudest thing you've ever done?

"I was playing golf with a fella and deliberately shot the ball into the woods so that we'd both have to go in there. Then I did a little striptease before pouncing on him! I kept my little white skirt and pop socks on, of course – well, it'd have been rude not to!"

9 Is it better to give or receive?

"I like to be the perfect girl so giving makes me feel great. There's nothing better than knowing you've got a ten-out-of-ten score!"

10 Have you ever made a sex tape?

"No, but I'd like to one day. Everyone deserves to see my wilder side once in a while!"

'I enjoyed a Turkish delight'

I HAD my first Turkish bath the other week while on holiday in Bodrum. Wearing just my bikini, I was told to lie on a hot stone while a young guy rubbed my body with a rough mitt. When he started to soap my body, my top came off and my boobs and thighs got massaged. He started to rub faster and I arched my back to stick my boobs out and started gasping and closing my eyes. As he rinsed me, I rubbed my breasts and bottom to tease him and he disappeared. When I left the place, he went red and couldn't look me in the eye!

Jessica via email

'Band got a big surprise'

MY GIRLFRIEND and I were stuck in the car for ages because of a big traffic jam on the M25. It was hot, so we had the car windows down and sipped water. After a bit, we managed to catch the attention of a band in a mini-van a few cars in front. There were four fit blokes, so my girlfriend and I decided to tease them. She leaned over and we started kissing. I grabbed her boobs and rubbed her nipples through her dress, then slipped my hand down my skirt and began to rub myself. I could feel myself getting wetter, then my friend bent over between my legs, pushed my knickers aside and licked my throbbing clit until I climaxed. The boys gave a huge cheer as we moved off!

Jas Loughton

'My body shuddered'

AFTER GOING for a sports massage, the guy started flirting with me and I knew straight away that I wanted his manly hands all over me. After flirting over lunch, we walked to a park and I felt his erection against my body. We found somewhere quiet to have a kiss and a grope. He kissed and sucked my neck, then he squeezed my boobs and pinched my erect nipples. I released his manhood from his pants and rubbed his shaft. Leaning towards me, he licked and teased my nipples, while a hand suddenly went under my dress, pulling my panties aside. I gasped as he rubbed my clit and pushed his fingers inside me. We had to stop, but aim to do it again next week!

Lisa North East London

'Fun in the courtroom'

EARLIER IN the summer, I got a job as a temp at my local law courts. One of my colleagues was a flirt and after a few weeks we'd meet up for a kiss and fondle in one of the courtrooms. He even had access to the judge's chambers, but I was too nervous to do anything in there. One day I was horny, so I arranged to meet my man in an empty courtroom. As he kissed me, I could feel his bulge which made me wetter. He slid his fingers up my skirt and pushed them inside me. He tore open the condom wrapper with his teeth. I rode him in the jury area and had an amazing orgasm. Seconds later, someone walked into the courtroom. Two minutes earlier and I would have been saying, "Guilty as charged, your honour!"

Lambert: 'I just can't quite believe all this is happening!'

England's ageing new boy on dream debuts, fatherhood... and beetroot!

➔ Hi Rickie! Forgive us for asking a daft question, but how does it feel to finally get your international debut at the age of 31, and score with your first touch against England's sworn enemy, Scotland?

I still can't quite believe it to be honest. When I heard about the call-up for the match against Scotland I was already in shock. But then to score a goal on my debut almost immediately after coming on... it was the best week of my life, no question!

Well, you'd just become a father as well...

Of course, having Bella Rose is the best thing ever! A life-changing experience for sure, but to play for England and then score a goal at Wembley is something that'll stay with me for good. Even now, I can't quite take in what's happened to me. Could it have gone any better? Absolutely no way!

Were you nervous about making your international debut, then?

Oh God, absolutely! Look at the players I was training and in the dressing room with. There are guys in there I've looked up to all my career and then you see them getting changed next to you... incredible! What I will say is that I was made to feel totally welcome and included. It was a big step up for me but I felt more comfortable than I ever thought I could.

So tell us about that goal. You'd been on a matter of minutes, the cross came over and...

Well, all I really wanted was to do myself justice when I came on, but thankfully I got on the end of that fantastic cross. I think that header will go down as my best ever. Actually, there's no question about it – it will!

What did the Southampton lads say to you when you came back after your amazing England debut?

They were all really chuffed for me. There was a lot of mickey-taking but I know how pleased they were about how it went. It's a decent dressing room with some good characters.

It's a long way from working in a beetroot factory, after being released by Liverpool and then Blackpool, to where you are now, isn't it?

Everyone talks about that, which I guess is understandable. I'm not the only player to have found themselves in that position – where you have to fight and keep going when you're told you aren't good enough. Thankfully, I battled through those periods. It was hard being rejected but maybe it gave me a bit more hunger to make a success of myself.

How much do you owe Southampton?

I owe them everything, to be honest. The club backed me and showed me how to look after myself better. I always thought I had the ability to score goals at whatever level, but they saw how I needed to change my preparation and approach to the game. I now work as hard as anyone to make sure I'm right, if not more so.

Thanks, Rickie! So, final question: as part of the squad for the World Cup qualifiers, do you now think you have a decent chance of making the plane to Brazil next year?

It's a cliché but I have to take one step at a time. To be part of the England set-up is something, at 31, I thought had passed me by. I'm determined to live and enjoy every minute. I'm as ambitious as the next guy but at the minute I've just got a big smile on my face. Whatever happens, I'll be giving my all – it's the only way I know how to play!

The other new boys!

ANDROS TOWNSEND

22 SPURS

- Over the last four years, Andros has racked up loan spells at nine clubs. He's played over 100 club games but less than ten of them have come for Spurs! He's made more appearances for seven other clubs than he has for the Lilywhites.
- In 2009, playing for Leyton Orient, he scored a wonder goal against Yeovil. You can see what all the fuss is about at: tinyurl.com/o9q5wx8.
- André Villas-Boas has tipped Townsend to be a man who can potentially fill the void left by Gareth Bale as and when he goes to Spain.

ROSS BARKLEY

19 EVERTON

- Tim Cahill described Ross in 2011 as "a special talent, an immense player... I don't think I've ever seen a talent like Ross."
- Martin Keown also rates him. "He'll be one of the best players we'll ever see in this country," he has said.
- And here's Roberto Martinez. "I look at Ross and you tell me what weakness he has. He hasn't got one. He reminds me of Michael Ballack."
- At 16, he suffered a double leg fracture during an England Under-19s game versus Belgium.

PREMIERSHIP RUGBY SPECIAL!

Nuts goes training with Wasps!

And gets well and truly roughed up into the bargain!

IT'S NOT often that you get the opportunity to train with top rugby stars, especially when you're massive wusses like us. Even so, former England international and BT Sport pundit, Martin Bayfield, right, offered to take us along to London Wasps on one of BT Sport's pre-season "scouting trips", and have us put through our paces, ahead of Saturday's Aviva Premiership Rugby season-opener at Twickenham. So we selected our puniest man for the job and sent him to get clattered by the big fellas.

"And what would you like to be if you grow up?"

ONE OF THE BOYS!

Here's Nuts Man with his new team-mates. Oddly, no contract has been forthcoming at the time of writing, although there are tentative plans in place to have him constantly on hand in case they ever run out of balls.

BUZZING!

THE SCRUM MACHINE!

Nggghh! Throwing all your weight (even if there's not much of it) into the scrum machine, between two 18-stone forwards, was enough to turn Nuts Man the colour of a beetroot through the effort of pushing non-stop.

LEARNING THE MOVES!

Nuts Man practises a move they call the "pretzel". After fetching the ball from the ruck, Nuts Man was slung by the neck, head over heels, and then had 36 more stone of hefty players jump on him after the ball. Scary!

IN THE LINE-OUT!

This is probably the easiest line-out lift the Wasps boys will have all year (and maybe next year). If they'd let go, Nuts Man would've ended up landing in the field next door. Note the ghastly white pallor of his legs.

POWER!

TOUGH IN THE TACKLE!

After being dumped on his head and squashed between men twice his size, it was time for tackling practice for our chap. "It feels a bit like being run into by a quad bike at 25mph, I'd imagine," was little Nuts Man's summary.

NOT SO TOUGH IN THE TACKLE!

After being left battered and bruised by six professional rugby players, it was time for Nuts Man to get his revenge. A hard rugby tackle often exerts about 13 G-force on the parties involved – we'd imagine this was rather less.

Martin Bayfield's 5 to watch!

The BT Sport pundit selects his five game-changers...

GEORGE NORTH WINGER NORTHAMPTON

"What a shame for England that he's not English-qualified. He was possibly the star of the Lions tour. He's a big signing for Northampton – he's rugby union's superstar, the game's premier entertainer. Just watch if and when he cuts loose."

DAVE ATTWOOD LOCK BATH

"He's had a bit of a slow career up to now, but then he toured Argentina with England and came of age. He's a big, strong, ugly player, who terrifies the opposition by smashing holes in them! He can fade in games, but he'll overcome this tendency."

CHRISTIAN WADE WINGER WASPS

"He's another one who has excelled with the Lions. He has electric pace and is very exciting when he uses it. There's a chance he may suffer from second-season syndrome – I don't see that happening. He can run 100m metres in just over 11 seconds."

MATT KVESIC FLANKER GLOUCESTER

"He's the man who could fill in what is a weak point for the England team, as he's a genuine out and out openside flanker, and England don't really have one. Again, he's a player who had a good tour of Argentina and his all-round game should develop."

BILLY VUNIPOLA BACK ROW SARACENS

"He made a controversial move from Wasps last season, joining his brother Mako. He's a powerful young player who has a tendency to not put the work in. When he does – and Saracens will ensure that he does – he's a powerful runner and ball carrier."

● See Wasps vs Harlequins and Saracens vs London Irish in Aviva Premiership's London Double Header from 1pm on 7 Sep. BT Sport is the home of Premiership Rugby.

Arsene always leaves it so late!

The hasty approach definitely isn't for Mr Wenger!

➔ AT THE time of my writing this, Arsene Wenger's under incredible pressure to splash at least some cash. By the time you read it, I just hope that he actually has! That pressure all stems from the defeat to Aston Villa, but it doesn't seem that long ago that the season had ended and Arsenal fans were delighted about beating Spurs to fourth place!

Lukas Podolski's injury against Fenerbahce created a real hole to fill. The fans have been demanding he spend money, but in leaving it so late, it's hard to think of a genuine big name who he could bring in who hasn't already been snapped up.

His approach to the transfer window is very odd, he always leaves it very late, unlike Man United and the like. But last time he did, he picked up Mikel Arteta, so maybe he's onto something!

The madness of the Capital One Cup!

GOALS, GOALS, goals galore in the Capital One Cup last week! The big boys are taking it seriously again and most of them put out strong sides to make sure that they weren't on the receiving end of a Bradford situation. They'll have seen all the plaudits Michael Laudrup received in winning the competition with Swansea last season, and a lot of managers would relish a bit of silverware.

Also, with an international break coming up, most bosses would think, "Well, why would I rest them? If they get a slight strain, I have a genuine reason to pull them out of the international squad."

The managers' mindset has changed – and it's to the benefit of the Capital One Cup.

KAMMY'S UNBELIEVABLE-OMETER™

UNBELIEVABLY GOOD!

DAN'S THE MAN!
Daniel Sturridge is single-handedly getting Liverpool off to a flyer this season and ensuring that the fall-out from the Luis Suarez ban is minimal.

UNBELIEVABLY BAD!

NO-SHOW YO!
I hated to see Yohan Cabaye refusing to play for Newcastle. Until any player signs for someone else, they should knuckle down for their club.

Sorry, Jose – plea to Roo wasn't the best thing to do!

JOSE MOURINHO has pioneered something – the “issue a come and get me plea” plea! He can't force Wayne Rooney to leave Man United, so instead he invited him to tell United he wants to go to Chelsea. But you just can't do that!

Chelsea didn't want to embarrass themselves by getting knocked back on a huge bid, so Jose was cute in inviting Wayne to make his interest known. But, with the window still open at the time of writing, I think the chances of him moving are zilch. United have been good for Wayne Rooney and I think for him to move would be a kick in the teeth.

It was an odd time to try out his sumo wrestling moves

England vs Moldova

FRIDAY 6 SEP, 8PM • ITV/HD

England have done a good job of grinding out results in their recent friendlies leading up to this World Cup qualifier, so although smaller teams like Moldova will come here hoping for a shock result, England are better equipped to prevent it.

PREDICTION: 2-0

Key man

After the speculation surrounding his future, I think Wayne Rooney will feel like he has a point to prove on the big stage.

Is Ross ready for England?

A NEW season always throws up new stars, and one of them is Everton's – and now England's – Ross Barkley. What an interesting selection that is. He couldn't get into Stuart Pearce's U21 squad eight weeks ago – two games later and he's in the full international side! He's a wonderful talent, but it does suggest that we're short in the midfield department.

His left arm was oddly reluctant to keep going
